Football Dance In Jaysee Gym To Be Informal Affair

Following the Fullerton-Santa Ana football game on November 28, the final game of the season the Santa Ana junior college will act as hosts at the annual football dance with the students of Fullerton junior college as guests. The dance will be held in the Andrew's gymnasium on the Santa Ana junior college campus.

The motif of the affair has been kept secret, but according to Miss Clara Kate Owens, social commissioner, a tricky program and many charming decorations and favors have been planned by Miss Florence Brownridge, decoration chairman, and Miss Ada Marie Hendrickson, favor chairman.

Miss Owens also stressed the point that through a mistake, the dance had been advertised as "sport." The dance is to be informal, which eliminates tailored suits and hats.

The Rhythm Masters from Long Beach will supply the music and there will also be a special program of dance features, musical numbers, and other specialty entertainments. For those not wishing to dance, card tables will be arranged for playing.

For assisting the social committee on the night of the dance, a floor committee has been organized to take charge of the lighting effects, staging, and serving. Members of that committee include Bill Crawford, chairman, Carl Planchon, Mal Dunham, Raymond Gleasner, Dale Fuller, Nevil Hoy, Lloyd Manderschied and John Wykes.

Y. W. Delegates Hold Conference

Three representatives from the Santa Ana Y. W. C. A. attended the World Fellowship banquet held at Occidental college, Thursday evening, November 7. Representatives from three-fourths of the junior colleges and colleges of Southern California were present and also a Scripps college co-ed who announced that she was from Rumania.

After the delightful banquet, all present adjourned to the lounge where the program of the evening was given.

Dr. Watkins of U. C. L. A. spoke, and to use his own expression "took us a little trip through Italy and Russia." In Italy, Watkins spoke concerning the movement of fascism which he stated was quite strong among the younger generation and Mussolini, who said Watkins, is the head of all the government in Italy, the king being a mere figure head.

Entering Russia, Watkins said that it is holding the United States as its ideal, building roads and improving itself as the United States has done. Watkins related that while on a Russian train the members of the party were forced to sleep "as is" as no blankets, and sheets were furnished and also that the baggage was searched every so often by government officials.

NOISE IN ARCADES DISTURBS STUDENTS

Complaint has come regarding disturbance of college students in the arcades. The arcades act is an amplifier and the sound of laughter and voices is carried to the high school classes which are meeting in room 217 of the college building and the west rooms of the high school building in such a manner as to make impossible satisfactory class work. College students are earnestly requested to confine their activities to the front of the college building and to cooperate with the high school so that this disturbance may be eliminated.

Wind vs. Exams

Chilly gusts of wind whirled and eddied through the trees of the campus the first of this week and deposited loads of leaves, dirt, debris and other litter all over the lawns and in the buildings.

Just why Old Man Wind chose to come around at this time when all the Don and Donas were having such a hard time with quarterly exams is not known, but he was very inconsiderate. Dirt and grit in one's food, books, hair and clothes is not especially conducive to healthy and persevering work around school, to say the least.

Outside of wear and tear on the paint around school, very little property was damaged to any extent, with the exception of a tall cypress tree against the front of the administration building, which was nearly blown over.

Junior Lions Plan Norconian Party

Progressiveness and one hundred per cent energetic can easily be the premier characteristics that would describe the Junior Lions, who ever expanding and preparing events for the members of their circle of fellowship.

To the roll call list of the club, seven new members were added in the last meeting of the organization. Those who received final initiation rites were Norman Woods, Vernon Valentine, Ed Meador, Willard Minor, Leslie McDonald, John Keeler and John Smith. Each one of these applicants are now full fledged Junior Lions.

President Stewart McPherson, stated that the next meeting of the club would be held on November 18, at the Ketter's cafe. A discussion will be held especially for the ratifying of the combined party that is to be held by the Junior Lions and Bachelors club to be given on Friday, December 6 at the Norconian Country club. The country club is located about five miles north of Corona, and is considered one of the finest entertainment resorts of its type in Southern California.

J. C. Armistice Float In Parade Monday

Early California history was well carried out by the Santa Ana junior college float in the Armistice Day parade at Huntington Beach last Monday, November 11.

Featuring the float were three Spanish musicians who rendered appropriate music. Four Spanish Donas added beauty to the float while three Dons lent a necessary masculine effect. Near the back of the float was a beautiful fountain and balancing this on the other end was an old rustic Spanish house-front, in the center of which was a typical heavy oak door. Beautiful green vines spread over the adobe-appearing porch. Flowers and greenery predominated on the sides and ends. The float was really a work of art and the result of long and tireless efforts on the part of its designers and makers.

Particular credit should be given to Rufus Bond and his assistants who drew the plans, to Abbott Mason who designed the float, to Charles L. Tibbetts who supervised the actual construction, to C. H. Chapman who kindly lent the use of his truck, to all others who assisted with its construction, and to the various committee members through whose suggestions and work the float was made possible.

Coach Bill Cook's Caballeros Meet Strong Norsemen In Crucial Game On Beach Gridiron at Wilson High

Back at the head of the list after trouncing the San Bernardino Indians last Saturday afternoon, Coach Bill Cook takes his charges to Long Beach Saturday, where they will battle with the powerful Viking tribe.

Last Saturday's games produced many surprises as well as upsets. Chaffey and Fullerton, both unbeaten until last Saturday, went down to the dregs of defeat at the expense of two fighting teams, Compton and Pasadena respectively.

Compton's win over Chaffey, by a 33 to 6 score was possibly the biggest upset of the day. Pasadena's determined eleven handed the Fullerton Yellowjackets a 7-0 beating which was rather expected before now. The Yellowjackets have had quite a bit of luck thus far this season and were about doomed for a defeat before long. At the present time, Santa Ana, Fullerton, Pasadena and Chaffey, are all tied for first place. Technically, Pasadena is leading, by virtue of having played one more game, not having had a "bye" date yet, but each team has lost one and won the rest.

The Cookmen are expecting a plenty tough game next Saturday as a result of the previous showings made by the Norsemen.

In Mobley, diminutive triple threat quarterback, Long Beach has one of the shiftest and finest passers in the Southland.

Last year the Dons barely eked out with a 6-0 victory over the Long Beach squad, and this year the Dons are expecting just as tough a battle, (Continued on page 4)

Football Caravan

Students, alumni, teachers and other specie of human life are requested to sign on the bulletin board that they will drape their respective automobiles with red and black paper and join together Saturday afternoon to put over the biggest football caravan in the history of the Santa Ana junior college.

The Long Beach game Saturday is one of the most important one of the local schedule, inasmuch as the strong Vikings will make or break the Don's chances for the conference pennant. Pasadena, Fullerton, Chaffey and Santa Ana are all tied for the league leadership, and any games lost will eliminate the Padres.

The caravan will leave about one o'clock and go out 17th street and then to Long Beach via Anaheim boulevard, turning off to the Woodrow Wilson high school where the junior college is located.

Crank up your heap and pile in the girls! Let's go!

Student Center Again Proposed For Junior College

Agitation for a Student Center has again begun at Santa Ana Jaysee. The proposed improvement would provide a place for students to gather for discussion or study and would relieve some of the congestion of the library and eliminate the disturbances now caused by groups in the arches, it is pointed out.

The proposed center would be located at the northeast corner of the campus among the trees. According to plans submitted last year, walks would be put in around it, benches erected, and a suitable location for a bulletin board built.

At present there is no place for students to gather during the noon hour and vacant periods. Classes are frequently disturbed because of this lack.

The proposition, which was dropped by the Executive Board last year, was to have been brought up at a meeting of that body last night, but the meeting has been postponed. No reason was advanced for the postponement of the meeting.

Famous Lecturer Speaks To "Y's"

Miss Frances Warnekie and Miss Henrietta Thompson spoke to junior college students from Fullerton, Compton, and Santa Ana in the Y. hut, Sunday afternoon.

After several songs were sung, led by Miss Dorothy Cartwright, Miss Frances Harper, president of the local group introduced Miss Frances Warnekie, a student at Berkeley, who was appointed to attend the World Student Christian Federation in India a year ago. Miss Warnekie spoke of the committee meeting in India, of her experiences and of the Indian food which all representatives began finally to like better than anything else. Miss Warnekie then told of her trip from New York to England, to France and Belgium, and then through the Mediterranean to India. In this talk she brought out the race prejudices in each country. In England Miss Warnekie said that the prejudice was against their fellow countrymen, the Indians.

In France Miss Warnekie stated that she found many negroes who had managed to get away from America and were trying to earn a living in France and Belgium. The Anglo-Indians and the Indians will not mix in India, stated Miss Warnekie and this was the reason why so many Indians are uneducated because the Anglo-Indians consider the Indians beneath them and since all of the schools in India are for Indians the Anglo-Indians will not attend them and so remain in ignorance.

FIRST MID-SEMESTER EXAMS GIVEN TODAY

Quarterly exams, the bane of all students, started today and will continue through Thursday and Friday. The tests are being given during the regular class periods and are of 50 minutes duration.

These quizzes constitute the bigger part of the mid-semester grading and are very important. Instructors will hand in deficiency notices to the office by Thursday of next week for all students who are making "D" or "F" grades, it was learned. Deficiency notices, it was pointed out, are not always failing indications, but a warning to do better work in the course.

EDITOR REFUSES TO REVEAL ALGOL PLANS

Algol work is being kept a staff secret as neither the plans, nor the art motif to be carried out have been disclosed.

During the last meeting Miss Lavinia Compton, editor made individual appointments with the members of her staff in order to confer with each one on his or her department. Miss Compton will also give instruction as to what is expected of each staff member in this year's Algol work.

Miss Mary Louise Wallace, art editor, and Miss Anna M. Gilles art instructor, are to choose the members of the art staff of the Algol. The formal invitations will be given out the latter part of this week.

Eugene Knox Will Entertain Today

Eugene Knox, famous character impersonator, will be the feature attraction of the assembly program today, according to previous announcements made by Robert Chapman, associated student body president and in charge of the program.

For the past 20 years, Knox has traveled over the United States, appearing in many of the large cities. He has made a life occupation of studying people, and is widely known for his clever and characteristic impersonations. Through this intensive study of fellow men, Knox has become a genius of versatility and an unusual artist of that line.

Knox has now been in California for some length of time and has appeared in numerous entertainments in Southern California recently.

According to the statement issued recently by president Chapman, Knox will be the sole entertainer of the entire assembly period.

New Debate Topics Outlined By Stewart

Schools of the junior college conference have been notified of the topic for the first league debate, according to C. C. Stewart, and the question is: Resolved that the installment plan is detrimental to the welfare of society.

Students interested in debating have been gathering material and discussing it at group meetings. Each school will soon pick a negative and an affirmative squad. This will allow time for preparing for the first league debate on December 7.

Final arrangements of the league schedule have not been sent out. Announcement of the pairing of teams and their meeting places will be made in the near future.

PRINTING DATE NEAR FOR "TAVERN POST"

Approximately 60 contributions for "The Tavern Post," publication of the Tavern Tatlers, have been received, according to T. H. Glenn, faculty advisor of the literary organization.

The publication which is to be adequately illustrated will appear in about two weeks. Some copy has already been set up and the editors are busy reading other contributions and making selections.

Another interesting announcement made by Glenn was to the effect that this year's second publication of "The Tavern Post" is scheduled to appear immediately following the Christmas holidays. Students are asked to begin contributing for this publication at once. A great deal of worry and unnecessary last minute rush work for both contributors and the editorial staff will be avoided if students will hand in contributions as soon as possible.

The staff of editors which is responsible for this year's first publication is headed by Fred Humiston.

Library Facilities Aid Many Scholars

Santa Ana junior college is fortunate in having unusually fine library facilities, for the library, which is shared with the high school, occupies a large room in the high school building as well as the branch in the college building. There are contained at present in this library about 15,000 volumes, besides many periodicals.

At the west end of the main library there is a reference and reading room reserved for college students and high school honor students. Here, as in the college branch, reasonable quiet is expected for the convenience of others who may wish to study.

The latest valuable addition to the library is the new fourteenth edition of the Encyclopedia Britannica. This edition has been modernized and improved, so that it is absolutely up to date.

Miss Lillian Dickson, librarian, and her two assistants and always ready to help any students find special material. Books in the library are easy to locate, for they are arranged according to the Dewey decimal classification, or according to subject matter. Complete card catalogs are available which give the call numbers of all books. Generally books may be kept for two weeks, but reference books which are much in demand can only be taken out for one period, or over night.

Bachelors Start Hell Week Monday

"Hell week" is scheduled to begin Monday, November 18. This is the week that the Bachelor pledges receive their final degree of initiation. Most of the initiation is stored up for this week, hence the week is all that its name implies. The pledges will be "marked men" during these seven days.

After much discussion, the Santa Ana Country club will evidently be the scene of the Bachelor's Ball, which is due sometime in February. At first it was thought the Country club would not be large enough, but on a thorough investigation, it was revealed that the floor space can be made large enough to handle the gala affair. Nothing has been decided on, and the decision will probably be held over until after Christmas.

A circular letter is also to be started among the Bachelor alumni. The first alumnus will write a letter, telling where he is, and what he is doing. He will then send it to a second alumnus, who will add to the letter, and send it on to a third. Each alumnus receiving the letter, will add to it, and send it on. Consequently the letter will be in constant circulation, enabling the Bachelor alumni to keep in touch with each other.

Y. M. Conference Set For Asilomar

Representatives from colleges from the southwest will unite in conference meeting to be held in Asilomar, a beautiful beach resort located near Carmel-by-the-Sea. Tentative dates for the conclave are December 26 to January 1.

Junior college students from every institution in the southwest, among the states being represented are New Mexico, southwestern Texas, California, Arizona, Nevada, Utah, Oregon and Hawaii. "Y" representatives present last year at the annual conference included foreign countries such as Italy, Greece, India, Turkey, and Germany, and were sent by their respective organizations.

Leaders of the local Y. M. C. A. stated that two nationally known speakers would attend. They are Professor Gilke of Chicago and Doctor Burke of Pomona. Also a number of other noted lecturers of religion, economics and vocational subjects will conduct a series of lectures in the conclave.

OVER THE EDITOR'S DESK

STUDENT COMMENT

The DON invites anyone in the faculty of associated student body of Santa Ana junior college to submit any kind of constructive or destructive comment concerning either the DON or the college. Anyone who has an opinion which he wishes to express is welcomed to do so in the vox populi column of this publication. We ask only that the articles be signed by the writer.

There are many school problems which are being informally discussed about the campus and their publication in the DON may lead to some solutions. At least it will stimulate thought in the school. Submit your comment now.

THE STUDENT CENTER

Again there is agitation for creating a student center on the campus. Last year the executive board made elaborate plans for the project, even causing several drawings to be made of it. Enthusiasm was aroused throughout the school. So much that both the school board and the Junior Lions recklessly offered to finance the center.

For some mysterious reason which nobody apparently can explain all plans were dropped and everybody forgot that there ever was such a thing suggested. Now that the question has been again brought up it will probably be carried out.

A student center would eliminate the disturbance now caused by congregation of students in the arches and they could have a place to talk as well as study. There seem to be no objections to such a plan so that it will surely be realized.

THE NEW DON

The DON staff has experimented with a larger publication and has found that they are able to handle it and other improvements are expected to be made throughout the remainder of the school year.

It seems that some of the older junior college are inclined to remain in a rut instead of improving by leaps and bounds. A college which was founded as early as 1915 should be as progressive as those which are only two or three years old. Of course, financial backing is a great factor in development.

The publications of Compton junior college and Los Angeles junior college are excellent examples of rapid growth. Los Angeles junior college has been organized approximately two months and they are at present time publishing one of the best junior college papers in the state.

THE TAVERN POST

"The Tavern Post", which was originated by the Literary Club last year, is one of the most creditable publications of the college. It is a vehicle by which those who care to write and who wish to attain the heights of good literature can express themselves. It is the workshop of the young author.

Great things are expected this year from the young magazine which is to be published quarterly rather than annually. The first edition is scheduled to appear within a few weeks.

NO PARKING

Strange doing have caused a stir within the walls of Santa Ana junior college.

Students wander aimlessly around the campus trying to look wretched but end up by looking decidedly pleased. What's the reason? If one of the friends of the afflicted students is questioned, he merely shrugs eloquently. (That for your pains.)

Hist! If you strain your ears you can hear the conversation between him and a fellow classmate.

"Why weren't you in class this morning?"

An indifferent shrug is the only response.

"Did you cut?"

Another shrug which is thoroughly exasperating.

"Hey, what's the matter with you? Can't you talk anymore?"

Really, old chap, it's very unimportant, just a small matter between myself and the organization."

"Oh yeah? How enlightening. Suppose I make a guess. I'll bet you're suspended."

"Huh? Oh yes, just for two days. I parked my car over by the store."

Concluding this dialogue the questioned student crosses the street with a beatific expression on his face while his friend rushed madly into the college building just in time to hear the last bell.

A Minister's Prayer

"Brothers and sisters, I come to say goodbye. I don't think God loves this church because none of you ever die. I don't think you love each other because I never marry any of you. I don't think you love me because you have not paid my salary. Your donations are moldy fruit and wormy apples, for by their fruits ye shall know them.

"Brethren, I am going away to a better place. I have been called to be chaplain of the state penitentiary. 'Where I go you cannot come, but I go to prepare a place for you,' and may the good Lord have mercy on your souls."

Bob: "Why are you painting one side of your car red and the other green?"

Bill: "It's a great idea. You should hear the witnesses contradicting each other."

"Dear John," the wife wrote from a fashionable resort. "I am enclosing the cheque to cover the bill; but please don't buy any more hotels at this figure. They are cheating you."

Jones: "Surely it's not true that seeing is believing."

Brown: "Not necessarily; I see you every day."

Fixing the Detour

"What, the main road to Binksville open all the way?"

"Yes, we had to open it until we get the detour fixed."

"This," said the guide, "is a skyscraper."

College freshmen: "You don't say—well I'd like to see it work."

JOKES

Tim Wallace: "Did you get much exercise on your vacation?"

Margery Walton: "Did I! I wish you could see the callouses on my ukulele fingers."

Vivienne Herr: "Say, I'm so hungry I could eat a horse."

Doyle Stockton: "Sorry, but I ain't got no horses."

David Hill: "Did you hear about Gene Oleson getting his leg hurt? He was sitting in a street car, and attempted to flirt with a young lady standing before him."

Ed Adams: "Why all this profanity?"

Jack Brown: "I'm teaching my little sister Frances what not to say."

Jack Sweetnam: "Are your poems widely read?"

Bill Schooling: "I'll say they are. Over twenty editors read the last one."

George Warner: "Why didn't you take a taxi on your date?"

Mac MacIntosh: "My girl doesn't look well in yellow."

Wayne Flynn: "Is Bertollet hot? Say, see that suit he's wearing?"

VanSyoc: "That dark one?"

W. F.: "That was a light one, but it's charred."

Prof.: "Where is that paper you were going to hand in this morning?"

Cap Hilton: "Did I promise to hand in a paper today?"

Prof.: "You certainly did."

Cap: "Gosh! I've been lying again."

Sky Dunlap: "Have you heard the latest Scotch joke?"

Rod Chamberlin: "No, I've been out of the Don office for half an hour."

Old maid school teacher: "What tense is 'I am beautiful'?"

Chorus: "Past."

Coed: "I just got back from the beauty parlor. I was there three hours."

Frosh: "Too bad you stayed so long and then didn't get waited on."

Absent-minded professor (after kissing his wife and two daughters): "Now, girls, what is the lesson for today?"

"Great heavens, John, phone the doctor at once. The baby has swallowed her night key."

"If I'm studying when you come in, wake me up," said Evelyn as she entered the library.

My girl is so dumb that she thinks that morcelled hair is another way of cooking rabbit.

"Are you going out for spring practice, Alkie?"

"Now, I don't like fancy diving."

They called her Effie 'cause she always got E's and F's in her grades.

If we are half as bed as reformers say—reform is useless.

"I'm from Walla Walla."

"I heard you the first time."

A davenport is good for two things, one of which is to add to the beauty of the room. That can't be right.

Don't blame the girl that still believes that social science is a study of how to obtain invitations.

The birds have flew

As we have saw

Back north again

By Nature's law.

The spring has come,

The snow has went,

It was not did

By accident.

Traffic cop: "Hey, you can't make a turn to the right!"

Helen H.: "Why not?"

Cop: "Well, a right turn is wrong here, and left turn is right. If you want to turn right, turn left and then . . . Aw, go straight ahead."

Slightly embalmed boss (to secretary): "Any body in t'se me?"

Sec.: "No, sir."

Boss: "Huh! Thash funny! Well, I'm going out to look for m'self."

"Fi come b'fore I get back, keep me here tell I return."

"Mose, do you know what the A. D. on the cornerstone of this building stands for?"

"Yas, sah. It stands for 'All Done.'"

NOTED STUDENT SKETCH

HERALD HYLTON

And next, ladies and gentlemen, is our illustrious football captain, Herald Hylton! (cheers offstage).

Brother Hylton received his pre-college studies both at Long Beach and Anaheim, the first two years being spent at the Viking city. While there, he played varsity football in his sophomore year, was a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, Aerial club and several other organizations. Upon entering Anaheim, Hylton had a varied career and was quite prominent in school activities. He was an outstanding member of the football team and was all-conference tackle and captain in his last year; he was a member of the varsity basketball team, commissioner of mens' athletics in his last year, president of the Lettermen's club, Bachelors club, Music club, Junior Lions, band, orchestra.

After graduating from Anaheim, Hylton came to the Santa Ana junior college and started at once to make a name for himself, principally in football at which he was very adept. He was an outstanding tackle and made the all-conference team. He was chosen to lead the grid squad this year is making good in a big way. He is also a member of the Longfellows and O. K. clubs. He works in the fire department after school hours.

Upon being questioned as to future aims, Hylton said he was going to continue his higher education at the University of Southern California and has chosen coaching for a profession. Coaching what wasn't inferred but it is supposed that it will be athletics.

A DREAM

Scene—classroom
 Atmosphere—dreams

Say, have you ever been under the sway of romanticism—just sitting there. I wonder where now? Oh, yes, in the classroom, e-dreaming of the swell central party that you met last summer down there on the seashores of Balboa. Oh, the finest, prettiest looking eyes and such lovely hair. And the finest sport that anyone would want to meet. Oh, that moonlit night when we were sitting there alone and you said, "Oh, this moon and you here with . . ."

"Mr. (whatever the cue word is the teacher uses to arouse you) what is the meaning of the word amimate?"

"Oh, yas, you mean ambulance. Why it's a contrivance that hauls the deceased into the happy hunting ground at the zero hour is . . ."

Teacher: "Why certainly that is good for a zero in any class."

Now I ask you, is it fair to be criticized and discouraged in that harsh manner? That reminds me of the little blonde, delightful looking maiden that was in one of the beauty parlor shoppes. Yes, I had my face lifted too, with a bounce on the chin. The attendant in charge asked her:

"What will you have, honey, finger wave, or marcel wave?"

The little Chicago Cinderella says, "I'll take a crime wave, it is more permanent."

So you, a word to the dumb is insufficient. Do your air castle and star gazing tatics at home or on the astronomy class. Asked a freshman the other day why he dropped the astronomy class. His reply was that there weren't enough girls in the class to go out to study with.

LUNCHES

Why is it that some people rate at the little red store across the street and others don't? Some people pop over to the store and come out holding a sandwich or two and a bottle of milk—all taking place in less than three minutes. Others pop in and about 20 minutes later they pop out holding a sad looking "hot" dog (it really should be called "cold" by that time) and they, themselves, looking very dejected.

If anyone should drop in from 12:30 to 1:00 he would find people standing three deep behind what must be the counter since it isn't visible. Others are perched around the rather wobbly-looking benches looking wistfully and hungrily at those who rate. Some actually have their tongues out and others are deep in a newspaper usually about three days old and sadly torn disfigured and some remnants of a past meal or two.

Another question—why do the owners of the little red store across the street have glass windows in the front? Is it because they vainly hope to let people see in? If it is they are very wrong because there is always a group of females lined up usually two deep and sometimes deeper. They always seem to have a milk bottle in their hands. Some people wonder why it's always milk.

Customer: "Quick, Mr. Pillmixer, I'm poisoned! It must have been the sandwiches my wife gave me."

Pharmacist: "Yes, that's it. I tell you, you're taking a chance every time you eat a sandwich that isn't prepared by a registered pharmacist."

BACHELORS

I was walking down the hall the other morning, it happened to be a Tuesday morning, and I noticed a few of the fellows walking along rather gingerly. I also noticed these same fellows in my classes later, seemed to be rather leath to sit down.

For once in their lives I believe that these otherwise rather lazy, good-for-nothings would rather stand up than sit down. Some one questioned one of them and received this rather startling answer, "What's the matter with me? Say, if you had been paddled like I was last night—Man, oh, man—it sure was tough." You know, it sure must be tough on some of these junior college men to be paddled just like little kids. They always want you to think they are grown up even if they are only kids in their thoughts and actions. And these same fellows had little rolling pin on pink ribbon pinned on with great big safety pins. Of course, I have often seen safety pins used, but never for this reason. You know sometimes safety pins are used to fasten handkerchieves on to shorts or to fasten pants up, etc. but I never heard of them being used to fasten on rolling pins. Perhaps you can tell by the synopsis that I am referring to the pledges of the honorable Brotherhood of Bachelors.

MONKEYS

You queer little monkeys—you little fools—do you think you can fool me? You—little monkey at the left, who solemnly sits and holds his eyes. You are trying to say that one must see no evil. Wipe off that are still uncovered. You can still hear faintly look. Your mouth and ears evil, and I know you speak evil. What are you going to do about that? If you were as good as you pretend to be, you would have to have four more hands with which to hold your ears and mouth, too. But if you were that good, you would no longer be an ordinary monkey. You would be—what can I call you? Were you human I would say that you were super—

Now I have it—you would be a super monkey if you were as good as you pretend to be. Seeing that you are just a plain monkey I am going to tell you that you are a hypocrite.

And you, my little friend who sits in the middle. You're hearing no evil does not help much if you persist in speaking and seeing evil. As I said before, none of you are super-monkey—and I doubt if there ever will be a monkey who is. Well, yes—there may be one who will act so well that we all think he is, but he will probably be worse than you are.

And you, who sit unblinkingly holding your mouth—you are a hypocrite too. Remove your hands, and give voice to all that is in your evil little mind. I know there is evil in it. How could there not be when you sit there and slyly watch and hear all the nasty things your brother monkeys do and say. You are worse than they are, though. You try to hide your faults by keeping your mouth shut, but I know, and your brothers know that your little eyes always seem to be watching. And we know very well that you are not hard of hearing, or incapable of doing things.

Listen, now, all of you—since you are not super-monkeys. Be yourselves. Stop being hypocrites. If you must see and hear evil, you might as well speak it too. If you must speak and hear evil, you might as well see it. Remove those hands, and wipe off those assumed expressions of virtue

EXCHANGES

'Te Tumukula' of Honolulu, and the 'Bay Window' of Muskegon, Michigan, are the outposts of the 'Don' exchange department. Every week the 'Don' circulation manager sends copies of the 'Don' to seven junior colleges and nineteen four year colleges.

Schools in ten states and the Hawaiian Islands send their papers to Santa Ana junior college. A wide variety in size and content characterizes the various issues. Several of the publications are of six and eight columns, while others are very small. The English and style are mediocre in some of the publications, while others the style and diction are worthy of a high class periodical.

News is handed on a metropolitan scale by the 'Daily Bruin' in their four page, eight column daily. No other exchange has a four page daily paper. In every issue from San Diego State college and Crane college, Chicago, large photographs of college activities are featured.

Los Angeles junior college was recently awarded first prize for front page msakeup. Glossy white paper is used and the diction and style of the articles are excellent. Sixteen other junior colleges send exchanges from four different states. California is represented from Sacramento to Long Beach.

DOGOLOGY

Of course it is a well known fact that no school is truly collegiate without a certain supply of flivvers, football heroes, mascots, mustaches, frosh beanies, fur coats, and jazz coeds. We trust we have an adequate supply, but we seem to have added a new requisite to the already well filled list. Today, the latest wrinkle adopted by the Dons is dogs with an occasional cat thrown in for good measure.

No portion of the campus seems to have escaped notice from this new fad, for whether you venture to zoology lab or to gym you will encounter several of these pets. They run up to you and look quite joyfully to say nothing of their methods of jumping and pawing.

The fair frosh achieves that muchly desired collegiate, nonchalant air by strolling down the hall with a large shepard trotting by her side. The fun begins when Joe Collie's pet flea sexateher, Mutt, follows him into the library. Just last week a "dignified" sophomore was seen carrying a "cute little puppy" down the stairs.

Goodness knows what the school will come to if these queer animals stay around much longer. Creatures would be a better word—the identity of many of them is quite uncertain.

What will we do next?

FOOTBALL

I went into my classroom with not a lesson done.

The teacher bawled me out a lot, which wasn't any fun.

I haven't time to study, and I don't think I'm to blame,

For I spend my time in practice for the next big game.

Oh, it's freshie this, and freshie that, and "aren't college men destressing?"

But it's "great and mighty hero" when the football game's progressing.

When the football game's progressin', boys, the football game's progressin'.

Oh it's "great and mighty hero", when the football game's progressin'.

What is my eye is blackened, and my leg is on the blink,

And my nose is red and funny, and my back is one big kink?

That's what you gotta look for when yer playing in the game,

And it's more than worth the trouble when yer git yer share o' fame.

Oh, it's freshie this, and freshie that, and "you don't deserve a D".

But it's "we're mighty proud of you, my lad," when we've won the victory.

When we've won the victory, boys, we've won the victory,

Oh, it's "we're mighty proud of you, my lad," when we've won the victory.

and innocence.

I don't care if you are offended.

I am about to offend a few more people. This lesson is not only for monkeys, but for a great many humans who insist on pretending what they don't practice.

LONGFELLOWS SCORE HIT IN PARADE

4 Members Guide Freak Bicycle In Beach City

One of the main attractions at the Day parade at Huntington Beach, Monday, the Longfellows club basked today in the glory of publicity after being represented in the gala affair by four members and one four-seated bicycle of unknown age.

The four members, George Pad-dock, John "Sky" Dunlap, Alvin Arrendell and Charlie Greenleaf, rode the freak bicycle in and around the floats in the parade and created quite a sensation. Not content with the workout, the members brought the bicycle to Santa Ana and rode it around the town for four hours Monday afternoon. In keeping with the motif of the parade, the machine was labeled, "The Longest Bicycle In California". It measured 12 feet from end to end and was equipped with four handlebars, seats, sets of pedals and other accessories. To add to the occasion, the riders were gorgeously dressed in 1849 style, featured by a riding hat, goggles and motoring coat worn by Arrendell; a two foot stove pipe hat and frock coat by Dunlap; black velvet vest and decorated hat by Greenleaf and riding cap, gay vest and shirt by Pad-dock. All wore hiking boots.

The idea of entering the parade was only formulated Saturday and a wild rush to get the bicycle, riders and costumes followed. It was necessary to drive to Los Angeles before the parade Monday and the bicycle reached its destination only 10 minutes early, giving the riders no practice on the quadruped. It was extremely hard to ride but by practice, the riders became very proficient.

A meeting to discuss plans for the assembly to be given in several weeks was to be held today at three o'clock in the Associated Student office. Edward Adams, program chairman, is arranging for dresses to be worn in the club fashion show and also several other novelty acts. Expenses of the parade entry, announcement of the success of the awning drive and other important issues are on the program, it was learned from John "Sky" Dunlap, president.

Regarding the awning, the club's request to the city council requesting that the city ordinance of seven feet be enforced has been widely heralded. Many large Los Angeles newspapers carried articles on it, one published photographs, the two Santa Ana dailies published many articles and pictures and tall men in Anaheim took up the same matter with the Anaheim officials. The city building inspector and chief of police have been instructed to warn merchants of all offenses.

Y. W. C. A. Decides On Numerous Activities

Word has been received by the Y. W. C. A. that the Rev. T. Cochran from the Highland Park Presbyterian church has consented to speak on December 9 at a joint banquet of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. This banquet will take place at the new city Y. W. C. A. building at Main and 5th streets with the "Y's" of Long Beach as guests.

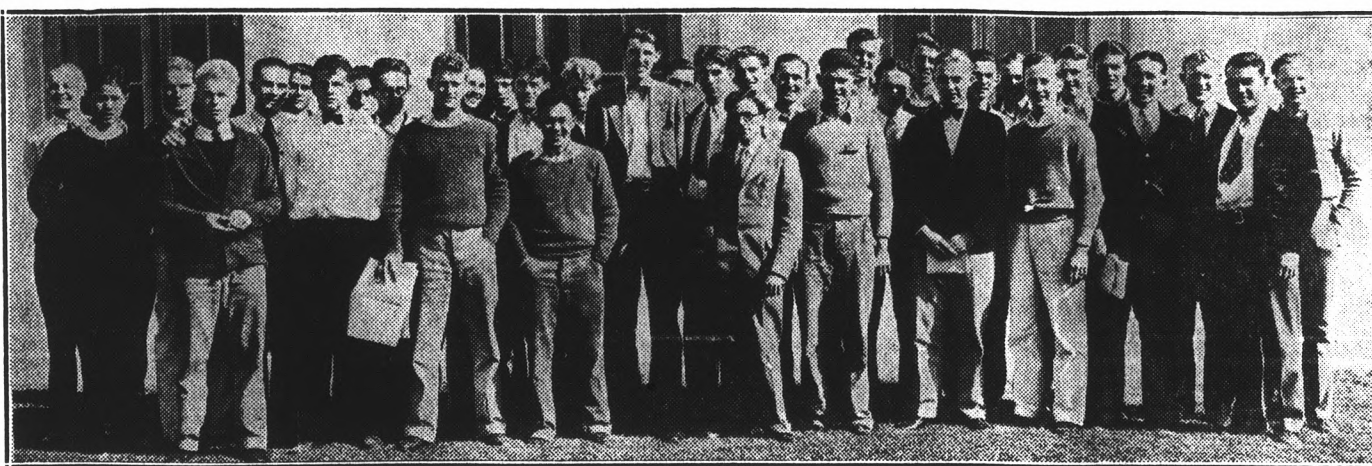

Reverend Cochran, who was the former pastor of Orange Presbyterian church was accorded the honor of accompanying Sherwood Eddy, famous lecturer, on his European tour for better world fellowship.

This kindly man loves young people and they in turn love him, not only for himself but because of his delight in sports especially horse riding.

Members of the Y. W. C. A. have been advised by Miss Helen E. Price, National Students secretary, to revise their constitution. Miss Evelyn Parks, chairman of the constitutional committee, has undertaken this work.

The "Y" hut is to be made decidedly more attractive by several acquisitions, A $300 picture is being given by Mrs. Evelina Nunn Miller, an aunt of Lavinia Compton, "Y" member. This picture was painted by Mrs. Miller while she was in Palestine. Another added attraction is the antlers of a nine year old buck which were found by Gladys Earley while at the "Y" retreat in the San Bernardino mountains. These were called "beauties" by the ranger who patrols that vicinity. New drapes have been ordered for the Hut which will brighten it's appearance greatly.

"Six-footers" Roam S. A. J. C. Campus

Everybody looks up to these boys and if you don't believe it, just try it some day. This shows a few of the 43 members of the Santa Ana junior college Longfellows club, composed of boys who can push a yard stick for more than 6 feet. It has accomplished several worthwhile things and has more planned for the future, including a rip-roaring assembly in two weeks. Watch for it.

Press Club Making More Party Plans

Activities of the Press club scheduled for November and December will include, in addition to regular business meetings, a Thanksgiving or Christmas party, stated Doyle Stockton, president of the club.

Because of Armistice Day the regular business meeting to have been held Monday evening, November 11, has been postponed. Notice of the date of the meeting will be posted on the bulletin board.

So far the plans of the cabinet and social committee include plans for a "unique" party to be held during the first part of December. A dance will be an added feature of the party.

The Press club is designed for members of the Don and Algor staffs and students interested in journalism and writing of the Don. Dues are fifty cents a semester. The Press club has been in the past one of the most prominent clubs in the school. All students eligible for membership are invited to join the club.

report of last year's program. The synopsis of a day's program consisted as follows: breakfast, chapel, which included speeches and services, classes of vocational guidance, economics, religion, and other special subjects were conducted until eleven o'clock. Recreation for one hour. Luncheon. From one to two a general field counsel meeting was held. The hours two to five were for recreation, the favorite pastimes being swimming, baseball, basketball, and other sports. Practically every college had a team and many interesting contests were held during the stay. Entertainment were given in the form of skits by members of the various schools from five to six, which was the social hour. During the evening excellent speakers gave interesting talks to the assembled group.

Approximately 800 young men and boys attended last year's meeting and the popularity of this conference has widened to such an extent that many more are expected to attend this year. Santa Ana's quota is fifteen, which is sure to be filled, according to George Warner, president of the local students' association.

According to those who were present at last year's conference, it is well worth attending and much is to be gained. As stated, the finest of lecturers on a number of subjects are enlisted, men of years of experience and training.

Spanish Clubs Holds Initiations Monday

For the next meeting of the Cervantes club, a dinner meeting is scheduled which will be held at Ketter's cafe, Wednesday, November 20, at six o'clock. This is the first meeting to be held by the Cervantes club away from Santa Ana junior college.

To enliven the evening a very delightful program is being prepared by Miss Grace Haskell, general chairman and her sub-committees. Helen Hendricks is in charge of the program and is planning very unique acts.

At the first of the year there was a very surprising turnout, since before this year there had been very few students present at the Cervantes club. The dues were lowered this year and there were more students eligible. In this way the students learn to speak Spanish more fluently.

The club is also sponsoring a column in the Don's Daily hereafter.

Speed Increased On Shop Linotype Work

Two courses in printing are offered Santa Ana junior college students by Thomas E. Williams, instructor. Apprenticeship training affords practice in make-up, press work, linotype operation, and job printing. Special linotype work is offered as an advanced course.

Junior college printing students are responsible for the printing of the 'Don', the 'Don's Daily', 'The Tavern Post', 'The Algor', the junior college catalog, the W. A. A. handbook, the freshman bible, and programs for special entertainments. Job printing is done for other schools of Santa Ana.

Most of the linotype work is done at the large machine by Willard Francis. Students practice on the smaller of the two machines.

Those who are enrolled in classes in the print shop are Albert Coral, Herman Hoch, Francis Larrabee, James Sherwood, Warren Kimball, Merle Ewell, Arthur Lewis, John Dunlap, and Willard Francis.

U. Grant B. Meyer, journalism instructor, took his class through the print shop recently, at which time Mr. Williams explained the consecutive steps taken in the printing of a paper. Mr. Williams demonstrated the difference in the speed of a linotype over the setting of the type by hand. Reporters became aware of the necessity of getting in their articles of assigned length when they saw the paper in the process of being made up and the holes which resulted from someone's delinquency in filling his requirement.

Orphan Club Holds Function Tonight

For the purpose of determining the exact number of members and to discuss particulars concerning the next party, the O. K. club will hold its monthly business meeting this evening at 7:30 p. m., at the home of Eunice Hanson, 306 Wright street.

President Abbott Mason announced that this opportunity would be the last for eligible students to join and that all those planning to become members must attend the meeting. The only requirement for membership is that the student does not live at home.

Since the beginning of the club, it has been a custom to have a party every month. O. K. members are endeavoring to uphold this tradition by formulating plans for their next party which will be held about the middle of the month and will be only for the active members.

The membership dues have been placed at twenty-five cents a semester. However, at each social function, the members are requested to pay a small assessment for their refreshments.

The O. K. club is an old and well established club in Santa Ana college and has created a great deal of interest because of its originality of type and forms of entertainment.

The club has a surprise program arranged for the assembly period next week.

Botanists Analyze Campus Shrubbery

Pedestrians strolling along Parton street Wednesday, were very surprised to see J. Russell Bruff, science instructor hiking along in front of his botany 2A class while the class straggled along behind, stopping every now and then to congregate around Bruff, who discussed either a flower, tree, or shrub while the class took notes and looked up references.

The botany 2A class instead of studying the flowers, took a 'field' trip around several blocks.

Tavern Tattlers Initiate Two In Exclusive Club

Tavern Tatler members met in the college library, Wednesday evening, November 6, at six o'clock for the purpose of initiating new members, recently elected.

Lavinia Compton and Abbott Mason gave interesting original contributions for the initiation requirements of the club.

New members who have been elected to the organization this year include Phyllis Jamieson, Mary Louise Wallace, Bobby Goodrich, Frances Larrabee, Lavinia Compton, Abbott Mason and Baxter Geeting. Exceptional interest and talent along literary lines are considered in the election of members.

The program for the semester has been carefully worked out by a committee. The unfamiliar literature of the world is to be studied, with each member in charge of one meeting. The program includes a study of the literature of such countries as Persia, India, Norway, Sweden and Denmark, and the Spanish speaking countries including South America. Florence Caverly and Virginia Thomas are scheduled to lead the next meeting.

Santa Ana Scores In Every Period of Play; Sweetnam, Rimel, Star for Padres

Outplayed, outrun, outpassed, but not outfought, a game little band of San Bernardino Indians went home on the short end of a 38 to 0 score handed them by a superior band of Dons. This is our version of the football game played on Poly field in which Santa Ana and San Berdoo were the chief participants.

After a two weeks rest as the result of a bye, Bill Cook's Dons were again tied for first place as a result of last Saturday's outcome.

The Dons started out looking as though they were going to duplicate the feat which they performed against Chaffee two weeks ago, scoring only two touchdowns the first half, Garlock and Manderscheid each going over once. Both scores were made only after a ragged display of football, the Indians almost succeeding in repulsing both of them.

Evidently Coach Cook must have injected some gunpowder in each member of the team at half time, because they came out fighting mad and all "hot", hardly giving the visitors a smell of the ball throughout the rest of the contest.

The first score came in the initial period of play only after the Indians had held for three downs on the six yard line. Kluthe was all bawled up on his signals and shot the ball to Garlock instead of Dutton. Garlock nevertheless was wide awake and took the ball and evidently found a hole and didn't stop until he had made the necessary six yards and six points. Warner's conversion failed.

Santa Ana then kicked off to the ten yard line. Anderson brought the ball back twelve yards. After a good exchange of punts and some timely sallies by Rimel and Manderscheid and a good pass from Rimel to Dunham, placed the ball on the Indian's ten yard stripe. Here again the visitors repulsed the thrusts of Rimel and Manderscheid for three downs, "Red" finally going over on the fourth down from the two yard line. This ended the scoring for the first half with the ball in midfield as the gun sounded.

The Dons looked like a new team in the second half and came back to score four touchdowns and actually converting two points after touchdowns. Yes, by Mr. Wallace.

Santa Ana took the kickoff and marched straight down the field for a touchdown. The Dons began to use reverses which seemed to completely baffle the Indians, because they worked all day after they once got under way.

Stump kicked off to Anderson on the Indians 20 yard line from where they booted to Garlock on the Don's 40 yard line. After some nice reverses with Sweetnam and Garlock alternating at carrying the pill, Dutton again crossed the Indian's goal line from the five yard stripe. Warner's kick was blocked.

After wheeling up and down the field with every able substitute in the game, the Dons finally launched another impressive drive for the fifth touchdown of the afternoon. Manderscheid this time trekked across after three or four "Redskins" had made futile attempts at stopping him. Johnny Keeler, diminutive substitute Don quarterback was robbed of a thirty yard gallop when a teammate was caught clipping, and the ball was brought back and the Dons were penalized 25 yards.

During the closing minutes of play, Bill Crawford, Don guard, broke through to block a San Berdoo punt. Bill recovered and ran thirty yards to the sixth and final tally of the game. Wallace booted the pigskin directly through the uprights, adding the extra point. Thus making the score Santa Ana 38, San Berdoo 0.

There was little individual brilliancy throughout the contest for the

Santa Ana Tied For League Lead

The following is the junior college conference standings as it stands at the present time.

Following two major upsets last Saturday when Compton walloped Chaffey and Pasadena won from Fullerton, Santa Ana was again placed in a tie for first place. If the Dons win the rest of their games, the worst that they can do is tie for first place. Long Beach, Glendale and Fullerton must be beaten by Santa Ana before the Dons can figure on a championship.

League Standings
Junior College Conference
Pasadena	4	1 .800
Santa Ana	3	1 .750
Fullerton	3	1 .750
Chaffey	3	1 .750
Compton	2	2 .500
Long Beach	2	2 .500
Riverside	0	3 .000
San Bernardino	0	4 .000

Saturday's Results
Santa Ana 38, San Bernardino 0.
Pasadena 7, Fullerton 0.
Compton, 32, Chaffey 6.
Glendale 19, Riverside 0.

Next Saturday's Games
Santa Ana at Long Beach.
Pasadena at Chaffey.
Riverside at Fullerton.
Compton at San Bernardino.
Glendale, bye.

Sophomore Men Win Casaba Tilt

Mens' basketball came to the front last Friday evening when the sophs and frosh had a practice tilt which was won by the sophomores by a 46-19 score.

The game was merely a practice workout for the benefit of Coach Foote so that he could see who the prospective candidates may be for the junior college squad. Only those who had not made letters were eligible for the contest.

Robert Squires, lanky frosh center was the star of the game, making 15 of the 19 points made for the frosh. Cook, sophomore center was high point man of the game with 16 points.

The frosh were completely outclassed, but for the individual work of Squires. Bob is another product of the Mother Colony, earning two varsity letters there and one at a Los Angeles institution and comes highly recommended.

Ted Cook, former Santa Ana star, is also a likely candidate.

W. A. A. Cabinet Holds Meeting

Cabinet members of the W. A. A. met last Thursday in the gym, where a short, but very important business meeting took place.

An invitational basketball game was extended to the local J. C. women, by Fullerton. This game is to be a practice tussle, and is to come off on December 3. This game will merely be a preliminary to the basketball playday which is to be held at Glendale on December 6. A swimming met is to be held at Tustin on November 12, also, in which all members of the J. C. swimming team will compete.

Nothing definite was decided about the red and black sox which are to be worn by the girls participating in the playday. Mrs. Ellen Foote will report on the style of sox at the next meeting.

Brief reports were given by the heads of the various committees for the coming W. A. A. spread which is to be held December 12.

Members of the cabinet who were present were, Mildred Staples, Katharine Walbridge, Marion Parsons, Roberta Goodrich, Maybelle Ball, Louella Marshall, Evelyn Bahr and Mrs. Ellen Foote.

Tennis Champ To Be Picked This Week

Concluding the second round of the tournament the frosh champ will be determined at the end of the week.

During the past week, further elimination took place with the following results: A. Teel lost to R. Fitz, 2-6, 0-6. R. Gardner lost to E. Bahr, 6-3, 6-0. The winners of this round will meet during the current week and play off three sets. The victor playing R. Smith, who thus far has stood by.

An interclass tournament will follow the present tournament, where frosh players will come in contact with the sophomores, determining which of the two classes have the strongest player.

Following this, an open tournament will issue. This meet is open to all girls interested in tennis, but who have the time to come out for regular practice. This tournament will also be conducted on the elimination basis. All girls interested watch for further notices on the bulletin board.

Santa Ana Is Again In Tie For First Place In J. C. Conference Race

The Vikings threaten chiefly via the aerial route which means that the Dons will have to polish up considerably on their pass defense.

The teams will take the field on almost equal terms with the Dons a slight favor to defeat the home team because of previous showings made by both teams, but if they go back into a slump, they might come home on the short end of the score, and much surprised.

Local hopes were somewhat shattered when Smith "Sammy" Griswold tore some ligaments in his knee and will probably be on the sidelines for a few weeks. Sammy is one of Coach Cook's most reliable men and his absence will no doubt be quite obvious. "There were no other serious injuries from last Saturday's tussle. Every man got a chance to strut his stuff, and he did. Coach Cook was well pleased.

Many of the men showed up very well in last Saturday's game with the Indians. Jack Sweetnam and Jack Rimel showing up particularly well. Many times Sweetnam broke away for huge gains on well executed reverse plays. If he keeps up his good work you may expect to see him in the starting lineups before long. Jack Rimel, husky fullback also showed up extremely well, especially in returning punts and running the ends. Captain Herald Hylton, "battling fireman," is also back to his usual form and made things look plenty dull for San Berdoo last Saturday. Warner, Don "Signal caller" is also back in better shape.
